

Interdisciplinary Pain Education Day: We've got your back!

Virtual Conference
October 22, 2021
8:30am - 4:30pm PT

Join Providence Health Care and Pain BC for an incredible day of learning about back pain, all without leaving your home or office.

Featuring:

- Keynote presentations from patient advocate Joletta Belton and incoming Canadian Pain Society president Dr. John Pereira
- Plenary talks from Drs. Tasha Stanton, Owen Williamson, and Vishal Varshney
- Six concurrent workshops to learn and apply practical skills
- Poster presentations highlighting new projects and research about back pain
- Panel of people with lived experience of pain

And more!

Early-bird pricing (until September 15, 2021):

- $50.00 for health care providers, health researchers and the general public until Sept 15
- $100.00 for health care providers wishing to receive a CME certificate until Sept 15 (accreditation pending)
- $10.00 for people living with pain and students (free registration is available for people with pain. Contact education@painbc.ca for information).

Recordings available. Visit pheedloop.com/iped2021/site to register today.

Presented by Providence Health Care and Pain BC

Interdisciplinary Pain Education

Call for abstracts

Innovations in pain care: 10-minute talks

The Interdisciplinary Pain Education Day Conference planning committee invites anyone with an interest to submit an abstract on a novel, evidence-based approach to pain assessment and/or treatment. This is a great chance to let the pain community know about an innovative program, service, or resource you are working on. Abstracts must be no longer than 250 words.

Selected presentations will be invited to create a 10-minute slide or video presentation that will be available on-demand for all conference registrants.

Participants will be invited to ask questions and interact with presenters via a live chat feature on the conference website. Presenters will also be invited to attend the conference for free.

Important dates:

- Deadline to submit an abstract: September 10, 2021
- Notice of acceptance: September 17, 2021
- Deadline to submit a presentation: October 12, 2021

For questions or to submit an abstract, please email education@painbc.ca.

About the conference: The Interdisciplinary Pain Education Day is a day-long, virtual conference featuring presentations from renowned health care providers, researchers, and people with pain on pain education and management. The 2020 conference saw more than 600 registrants from across the globe. The 2021 conference promises to be even bigger and better with an incredible line-up of speakers, practical workshops, and community presentations on innovations in pain care. Visit <https://pheedloop.com/iped2021/site/> to learn more and register.

Presented by Providence Health Care and Pain BC

